GET BREXIT READY: EXPORT STEP BY STEP GUIDELINE

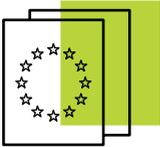

If you are exporting from the UK to the EU after Brexit and/or using EU Free Trade agreements to export outside the EU, it is imperative you action the below to ensure you will be able to continue sending goods from the UK to the World after Brexit.

1

Get a UK EORI number (Economic Operator Registration and Identification). You will need this to trade with the EU after Brexit. It will only take 5-10 minutes! It is that easy!

2

Check if your EU customers have applied for an EU EORI number and if they are aware of the potential increase in paperwork.

3

Check the commodity codes for the goods you export – certain goods may have different duties after Brexit.

4

Check potential taxes and duties your EU customer may have to pay post-Brexit. This will depend on the commodity codes.

5

Check if you need any special licences or if you need to follow any special rules for the products you export.

6

Understand Incoterms® 2020 and discuss with your EU customers how you will proceed post-Brexit.

7

Check how the origin of your products might change under new UK trade agreements. Discuss this with your international suppliers and customers.

8

Understand customs clearance and how you will complete customs declarations. You can either appoint a company to assist you (freight agents, chambers of commerce, etc) or you can do it yourself.

9

Check if you are eligible for any duty relief schemes.

10

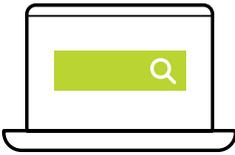

Check with your courier or haulier how they will move your goods post-Brexit, or if you are moving your goods yourself, check how you can continue moving your goods between the UK and the EU.

11

Check how you will claim VAT refunds post Brexit and how you will pay VAT if you are selling digital services to EU Customers.
